A. P&P 156 revision

The revision of P&P 156 was approved by the Institution Wide Committee.

B. P&P 5 Update

In the absence of Rogers Glispy, Michael Remshard read the update on the work of the subcommittee reviewing P&P 5. The P&P 5 form was reviewed. Tarsha Walton indicated that the form would be going online. Michael Remshard, Ellie Cunningham, and Rogers Glispy will review the form based on the conversation, and submit some proposed revisions. Additionally, the policy and the impact to students of the 10, 12, and 15 week withdrawal dates need to be clarified.

C. Review of Issues Brainstorm

1. Disruptive students in classes/judicial process/barring students from class

Ron Jackson outlined the formal and informal judicial processes. For incidents where a request is made to bar the student(s) from class, the incident is prioritized so that the judicial process can occur in a timely fashion.

Regarding Fran DiRosa's memo regarding the Three Strike Rule, the proposal was reviewed by a committee and vetted through the College's legal counsel. The College cannot implement this proposal as students have a right to due process

2. The remaining items on the list are held to the next meeting

II. New business

- A. No new business.

III. Adjournment

- Ellie Cunningham moved to adjourn the meeting.
- Larry McKenzie seconded the motion.
- Unanimously approved
